

Our Mission

The 2020s is starting off to be one of the most disruptive decades ever. The time is now to create new leaders who will harness this disruption to benefit humanity. To do this, we've created The Future Leaders Academy.

think2perform RESEARCH INSTITUTE was created to advance moral, purposeful and emotionally intelligent leadership. During our first five years, we did that by funding leadership research in those areas and freely sharing what we've learned with leaders around the world.

While funding research is still a major component of what we do, we are now turning our attention to developing Future Leaders. These are young people who show promise but may not be able to gain access to the latest leadership learning opportunities.

Introducing: The Future Leaders Academy

The Future Leaders Academy prepares high-achieving high school juniors and seniors, as well as college freshmen and sophomores, to become exceptional leaders in their homes, communities, schools and workplaces.

The program pairs students with more experienced leaders as they complete a five-month, virtual leadership development program where they learn about topics such as:

- Defining Leadership
- Learning and Leveraging Emotional Intelligence
- Is Your Calling Calling?
- Moral Leadership
- Five Levels of Leadership

After the virtual training is complete, the future and experienced leaders will come together for a one-day, in-person training event and celebration in downtown Minneapolis.

At the end of the live event, each of the future leaders will be matched with an experienced leader for a yearlong mentoring relationship.

Every student who completes the program will receive a certificate of completion acknowledging they are a think2perform RESEARCH INSTITUTE Future Leader, a credential they can highlight on job and school applications.

This program is provided at no cost to Future Leaders, their families or educational institutions.
